Jailed As Gun Carrier

Wealthy Canadian Will Serve Year in English Prison

MAIDSTONE, Eng., Nov. 27.—Alphonse F. A. Smith today was found not guilty of murder or manslaughter in connection with the shooting of his friend, John Thomas Derham. He was sentenced, however, to twelve months at hard labor for carrying firearms with intent to endanger life.

Addressing the jury, which heard Alphonse F. A. Smith, the socially prominent defendant, swear that the shooting of his friend John Derham on August 12 in the Smith villa.

Jealousy Cause

"There is no motive more likely to cause man or woman to desire to do injury than jealousy".

The prosecution had based its case on the theory that Smith shot Derham in a fit of jealous rage over the latter's attentions to Mrs. Smith. Pointing out that Mrs. Smith had not been called as a witness, the judge asked,

"Is it conceivable that, if she could

IN THE WORK OF MUSIC

Will Continue Series Educational Recitals

The Edmonton school of music, in Rochester, will continue this year the special series of educational recitals which was inaugurated a year ago. These recitals are given for the regular students and faculty of the school, without cost to them. They are open to the public and are planned as an educational opportunity for students of music. A feature this year will be a special presentation of the entire cycle of Beethoven string quartets by the Hard House string quartet in co-operation with the London and Kilbourn quartets.

Choral Union to Meet On Tuesday Evening

The East Edmonton Choral Union will hold its second meeting at the hall situated on 13th avenue between 22nd and 23rd streets on Tuesday next at 8 p.m. The union is non-sectarian, and the only expenses are the hire of the hall and cost of the music, the music remaining the property of the union.

Any further details can be obtained by phoning H. J. Robinson, 1515 13th street, or by phoning him at 72144.

Her Humor Remained Even in Dentist's Chair

From London comes a new story about Victor Dale, the concert pianist whose European invasion last summer was an overwhelming success. While in England she called a dentist who has an amazing habit of humming old operatic tunes while at work. He was drilling on one of Miss Dale's molars and humming an aria from La Bohème when his patient motioned him to stand.

"I can't stand it!" Miss Dale declared. "What? Don't you like my singing?" asked the dentist. "Oh, your singing is fine!" replied the amazed British dentist. "But your instrumental accompaniment is terrible!"

SYMPHONY IS ON THRESHOLD OF MOST PROMISING SEASON

First Concert of New Series Will Be Given at New Empire Theatre Dec. 5—Henri Baron Will Conduct for Fourth Year

On Sunday evening, Dec. 5, the Edmonton Symphony Orchestra will embark upon its seventh season of concerts. For the past two months rehearsals have been in progress and an untiring executive has been at work to set things in order so that the seventh season may be "lucky" and that patrons may hear a series of concerts second to none in the orchestra's history.

The staff of the orchestra is already one of which both the orchestra itself and the city as a whole may well feel proud. To have won the esteem to such a high level which could be written. To be in the threshold of a seventh season with better hopes in the future than the audience of previous seasons is to achieve greater things.

The first concert was given during the season 1920-21 at the Grand Theatre. Albert Weaver Watson was the first conductor and held the post for two seasons. The first program included Mozart's "Jupiter" symphony and the second conductor, "Unfinished" in B Minor.

For the second season a switch was made to the New Empire Theatre in order to accommodate the larger audience. The "Pathe" symphony was played as well as Mendelssohn's "Pavane" and the overture to Wagner's "Holland".

Henri Baron succeeded to the conductorship for the third season. The program continued, on the same high plane as in the first two seasons and the standard of playing kept on going up.

The next year the orchestra was conducted by Vernon Thorpe and the program was for the fifth and sixth seasons Henri Baron returned.

PROMINENT ENGLISH VOCALIST TO APPEAR HERE WITH E. S. O.

Charles Tree, Noted Singer, Author and Instructor, Will Make Initial Edmonton Appearance Dec. 5

Charles Tree, the eminent English bass, who is to appear with the Edmonton Symphony Orchestra at the time of its regular series of concerts to be given at the New Empire Theatre at 8 p.m. Sunday Dec. 5 is one of the leading vocalists and vocal pedagogues of Great Britain. He has sung in thousands of concerts, operas and oratorios and has achieved artistic triumphs which will be long remembered.

Mr. Tree did not come to Canada for the express purpose of singing. He came to spend a holiday at the invitation of friends at Victoria. Of course as soon as it was known he was there, his services were sought and a series of concerts followed. As he is a possessor of two books on singing and a teacher of prominence his advice was asked on two occasions and he was requested to deliver lectures and to hold his own happy combination of instruction and entertainment in the talk he will give here.

It may be of interest to know that Mr. Tree is a direct descendant of the great Admiral Drake whose exploits on the high seas and with his lands on Plymouth were done during long years of his life. He is a cousin of the late Ellen Tree, the actress wife of Charles Tree. He was the husband of the actress, the comedian. This is one of the most prized trophies in Britain.

Mr. Tree is also a golfer of note. This year he won the championship of the vaudeville society of Great Britain, open to all members of vaudeville and concert artists ranks. This season he also won the Gillingham Cup from Billy Merrett, the comedian. This is one of the most prized trophies in Britain.

Mr. Tree is a man of the city is being looked forward to with keen anticipation by all music lovers.

He is well paid that is well satisfied. SHAKESPEARE.

Flora Negri's Light Is Now 'Unbushelled'

The story of how Flora Negri, the young American soprano who distinguished herself as a singer in her New York recitals at Adelphi and Town Hall last season, got her start in the concert field is an interesting one as it shows how genius revealed itself from under a bushel.

Several prominent New York managers heard Miss Negri's first recital and were enthusiastic about her. One of them was leaving town that night to go some time and had intended to stay for only a few numbers, but he was so impressed with the singing of the hitherto unknown artist that he stayed until the end. At the first opportunity he communicated with the singer's teacher, and the two men, both equally confident that Flora Negri would have a brilliant career on the recital stage, planned a concert career for her.

That they were right in the opinion of all who are "in the know" is proved by the verities—she has since then, both equally confident that Flora Negri would have a brilliant career on the recital stage, planned a concert career for her.

AUTO OWNERS IN INDIA ASK BETTER ROADS

Great Areas Between Railway Lines Require Motor Bus Routes

Great areas in India, lying between existing railroads, are badly in need of roads to accommodate the demand for motor bus transportation, according to Walter Schmidt, representative of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce, who is on a trip in the Far East.

To bring good roads to the fore in general public interest, motor transport, tire and petrol, tire sets of Calcutta and Bombay have formed an organization known as the Indian Industries and Road Development Fund. Mr. Schmidt reports.

Highway maps illustrated by motor picture show depicting the need for and method of constructing and maintaining roads were given by Mr. Schmidt before two meetings jointly sponsored by the Automobile Association of Bengal and the Indian Industries and Road Development Association in Calcutta and Bombay. There was attendance of 1,000 persons at each meeting.

The committee for better roads has the strong interest of the native population, as the Indians are tire-eating people. Motor bus travel is getting very popular with the Indian.

ENGINE MUST RUN SMOOTH

Quantity Production Does Not Stop Best Work Being Done

Contrary to popular belief, quantity production methods as used by some of the automobile companies completely approximate custom work and, in fact, involve the same care and limits applied in the making of the finest watches, motor cars, and other precision instruments.

It is in the engine, where all parts must be carefully coordinated and where there are the greatest number of moving parts, that these production methods are best exemplified.

Through the use of accurate gauges, jigs and fixtures, and the use of the lathe, the work is done with such accuracy and smoothness of finish that it is held to a variation of one thousandth of an inch. The work is done in a clean, well-lighted shop, with outside diameter of piston pin holes being held to a variation of one thousandth of an inch. Compulsory Automobile Insurance and Opponents

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—Automobile manufacturers, insurance companies, and public officials will weigh with interest the outcome of the test of compulsory automobile insurance, which became effective in Massachusetts Jan. 1 next.

The law, however, is not expected to be made a law of the land, as it has been the topic of legislative discussion in many states during recent years.

Other states are deeply interested in the discussion, and have been quick to adopt the measure having its staunch adherents and its determined opponents.

The aim and purpose of the plan is to provide adequate compensation in all cases for injuries received in motor car accidents.

More Motor Cars in Britain During 1926

Motor vehicles licensed in Great Britain for the year totalled 1,497,000, an increase of 138,000 vehicles over the preceding year. The total includes 675,000 motor cars, 438,000 motorcycles, 134,000 commercial vehicles and 92,000 motorbikes.

COMMON CAUSE

Improper use of carburetor choke or control not only wastes fuel and contaminates the engine oil but also causes wear of cylinder bore, piston rings and bearings. Furthermore, the engine oil, diluted with gasoline makes a poor compressor oil, thus causing leakage of the compressor past the rings into the crankcase.

Auburn Has Longest Wheelbase Any Automobile on Continent

New Model is Last Word in Automobile Luxury and Comfort

The Auburn Automobile Company is now in production on the new seven-passenger sedan, in the design and construction of which every feature was made to provide for the comfort of full quota of seven passengers. To provide this comfort it was necessary to make all proportions and use a wheelbase of 144 inches, the longest now manufactured.

The same general exterior design was followed in the manufacture of this car as in other models. Considering the extreme length and ample head room, an unusual lowness of design has been achieved. The body is closed car construction and finished with attractive, in-paintable blue lacquer. All cushions are equipped with Marshall type double-deck springs, heavily damped, and the chassis is equipped with the latest type of shock absorbers.

LATEST ESSEX IN HIGH FAVOR

Four-Door Sedan Scores Striking Success, Says Local Distributor

An immediate and striking success has been scored by the new Essex sedan, as evidenced by the fact that sales activity has reached that of the ordinary spring season—according to Frank C. Hadden, Essex distributor. They declare that this new model has caught popular favor more quickly and strongly than any other car in their long experience.

"Ordinarily the introduction of a new body type is of no great importance," said the manager. "But in the case of Essex it meant a good deal. Up to the time of the new body type, the car was a record of 25,000 cars of its body type, the Essex. When it added the sedan it doubled the variety of cars it offered the public and gave the motorist an opportunity to buy a new, value, economy and efficient performance in deluxe form.

Cold Motor Causes Car Owners Trouble

Many of the cold temperatures causing drivers to have trouble starting their cars this morning are due to the fact that the oil in the engine has become too thick to flow properly. This is especially true in the case of older cars, where the oil has become more viscous with age. Drivers are advised to use a heavier grade of oil in winter months to prevent such trouble.

PUBLIC SAFETY IS MENACED BY 'DEAD-EYE-DICK' DRIVERS

Should any street corner before dark and about the "Dead Eye-Dicks" that roam the thoroughfares of Edmonton. Take a spin out of town, in any direction, and count 'em again. The law specifically states that "two-limbed" shall mean the front of each motor vehicle, and that during the hours marked by darkness both of said lights shall be throwing their cheerful beams ahead, at a prescribed angle. This the "Dead Eye-Dicks" seem to take this particular traffic rule as a huge joke, and whereas they continually dash about town or bow along the highways at night, showing a single headlight. Whether this light is on the left or the right side of the car is merely a matter for rapid calculation on the part of the motorist passing the "Dead Eye-Dicks" on the highway. Should the glaring light—and it always glares—be on the left side of the approaching car, safe clearance is usually negotiated; but should the light be shining from the right or off side—then it's not so good. A few inches miscalculation by the motorist passing on the left of the "Dead Eye-Dicks" could cause a crash, a couple of broken—and perhaps a fatality or two.

City police and speed cops, who check the pace of drivers with the heavy gas foot, can add to their laurels and enhance their pool standing with careful and law-abiding motorists by giving a little extra time and attention to the great number of "Dead Eye-Dicks," who are defying the law and making travel dangerous for the drivers who strive to fulfill the law's requirements.

Wood-Burning and Coal-Burning Cars Tested in Paris
Wood-burning and coal-burning automobiles now under test in the U. S. by the National Bureau of Standards. The tests are being conducted at the National Bureau of Standards, Washington, D. C. The results of the tests will be published in a report to the public. The tests are being conducted to determine the efficiency of wood-burning and coal-burning automobiles compared to gasoline automobiles. The results of the tests will be published in a report to the public.

READ CAREFULLY TERMS OF YOUR AUTO INSURANCE
While most motorists are aware of the importance of having adequate auto insurance, many fail to read the terms of their policies carefully. This can result in misunderstandings and disputes when a claim is made. It is essential to read the terms of your policy thoroughly to understand what is covered and what is not covered. This will help you to avoid any surprises when you need to make a claim.

Wide Difference Between Meaning of "Insure" and "Indemnity"
In the case of a fire, the difference between "insure" and "indemnity" is a matter of degree. "Insure" means to protect against the risk of loss, while "indemnity" means to compensate for the loss. ERSKINE FORECASTS PROSPEROUS 1927 FOR THE AUTO INDUSTRY

Automobile industry will have to have had its share of the prosperity in 1927, according to the forecast of the Erskine Brothers, who are the leading manufacturers of automobiles in Canada. The forecast is based on the fact that the economy is expected to be more prosperous in 1927 than in 1926. This will result in an increase in the number of automobiles sold, and a corresponding increase in the revenue of the industry.

"RIGHT OF WAY GRABBER" RATED TOP-NOTCH MOTORING NUISANCE
When two cars meet at a street intersection the driver approaching on the right has the right of way. This is a rule that is well known to all motorists. However, there are some drivers who do not follow this rule, and who attempt to "grab" the right of way from the driver who has it. These drivers are known as "right of way grabbers," and they are a major nuisance to the motoring public. They are responsible for many accidents and delays on the roads.

Rules to Protect Automobile Finish
While the modern luxury-type finish of the car is extremely attractive, it is also very expensive. To protect this finish, it is essential to follow certain rules. These rules include: (1) Avoiding contact with other vehicles or objects. (2) Avoiding contact with dirt, sand, or other abrasive materials. (3) Avoiding contact with water, especially salt water. (4) Avoiding contact with oil or grease. (5) Avoiding contact with acid or other corrosive substances. (6) Avoiding contact with anything that could scratch or damage the finish.
